

Video permits too cheap?

Although D.W. Dawg, combined family restaurant and electronic game arcade was granted a $25 license to operate its coin-operated amusement center by the city council last week, Mayor Paul Schuler gave fair warning Thursday to the city's video game owners—a sizeable license fee is likely next year.

Schuler told the Press-Record Thursday that the annual charge of $25 per machine is far below the fees paid in many other cities and, according to indications from the aldermen, the mayor expects the council to bring in an ordinance soon increasing the fees.

The license ordinance now in effect extends until May 1, the beginning of the city's fiscal year. The city adopted its updated coin-operated amusement ordinance only last December.

Second Ward Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, Granite City High School South's assistant principal, voted to grant the D.W. Dawg arcade license to comply with past practices of the council. He expressed strong opposition, however, to the idea of the video arcade as a gathering place for youth.

Schuman contended that arcades offer a tempting atmosphere for drug users to "get kids started" in illegal drug habits. Schuman said he has witnessed a "complete change of personality" in those who have abused drugs.

Alderman Sam Whiter of the Second Ward simply said he feels the city has too many video machines now.

The Dawg license was approved on a 9 to 4 vote with Aldermen Whitmer, Everett Morien, Casmer Skubish and Carl Kittel voting against its passage. Voting for approval were Aldermen Schuman, Warren Decatur, Margaret Nann, Paul Ray Bowler, Paul Fisk, Michael Modrosic, Casmer Skubish, Sharon Perjak, Jake Varadian and Walter Milton.

"This city council has obviously set a pretty low license fee," the mayor said, predicting, "Very shortly, we'll have a recommendation on the floor to have a sizeable increase in fees."

A spokesman for the restaurant planners, who sought the approval for the D.W. Dawg amusement license, said the business will be located in Belleme Village Shopping Center. The company plans to spend $40,000 in remodeling, starting immediately. The work is expected to take from 30 to 45 days to complete before the business opens.

The restaurant plans a basic hot dog menu for its eating section and 15 video games located in a separate room. Mrs. Perjak said the restaurant will employ about 12 to 15 persons.

The game room area will not be operated during school hours, it was pledged.

64% levy rise possible

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Granite City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic told aldermen last week that they would have to approve a 64 percent tax levy increase to fund his list of estimated 1983 appropriations.

If approved, the jump would raise the city's levy, which has remained stable for the last two years, from $2.5 million to $4.1 million.

Mayor Paul Schuler said to slay the appropriations "monster in one fell swoop," as the comptroller suggests, would direct the anger of every taxpayer to the council.

But, Comptroller Miklovic calls Granite City's annual tax levy, which is paid through tax bills sent out each fall, "that element of revenue to fill that last gap" that cannot be found in normal federal, state and city sources of revenue to fund the city's operations.

Residents now footing the bills for levies imposed last year by their city, library, township, park, county, schools and other districts might find more suitable another definition of Miklovic's, describing a high levy as a "last resort" funding stop.

A Granite City landowner's tax bill per $100 assessed valuation (one third of market value) of his or her property this summer is $6.37. The city's share is $1.43.

$2.35 CITY TAX RATE?
The comptroller told members of the city's finance committee during a meeting Tuesday morning, and the full council levy discussion later that day, that the city, based on his list of funding assumptions—would have to raise the current $1.43 rate to about $2.38 for collection next summer.

Miklovic is assuming the following:

Trash contract, wage hikes pushing GC levy

A new trash pickup contract, thought a bargain now at $566,923, could rise as high as $1.3 million next year, when a new contract must be bid.

City employees, who are expected to go with a wage freeze this year, will demand some type of wage increase next year.

Illinois Power's proposed rate increase could hike the city's IP bill by 19 percent, or $285,600.

The U.S. Army will ask the city to pay a one-time $256,100 bill to help renovation a 40-year-old pumping station located on the St. Louis Area Support Center (depot). By contract, the station is operated by the Army to pump treated wastewater into the Mississippi River when the river is high.

The Granite City Public Library will increase its budget by $30,000.

Subsidizing the city's ambulance service will cost $210,000 during the next two years.

Inflation will ultimately add $107,615 to the 1983 budget, despite adjustments for revenue increases.

To fully finance police and fire pension funds that are now one-third below the recommended level, another $370,000 will be needed.

Extra funds will be needed if the city decides to wipe out next year's projected $139,500 deficit.

All these assumptions mean about a $2 million increase from this year's general budget, and the total $4.1 million "hole" left for the city's levy to fill, Miklovic feels.

Mayor Paul Schuler agrees that the tax levy has to go up, if only to make up for the city's failure to raise taxes last year when expenses were increasing. Weighing what the taxpayer will allow in comparison with the estimated expenses, the mayor roughly estimates a $300,000 to $400,000 increase in the levy.

PUMPS ARE FALLING

Schuler, however, warned that the comptroller had not included among his assumptions an estimated $2 million to repair deteriorating city sewer pumping stations. The mayor said funding for the project is "probably as important or more important than anything on the list" prepared by the comptroller.

At the council session, aldermen were told at least four of the city's pumping stations should have been repaired "yesterday." Particularly poor operating conditions were cited at the stations located at St. Clair and Wayne avenues and at Fehling Road.

New Finance Committee Chairman Walter Milton of the Sixth Ward and veteran Alderman Sam Whiter of the Second Ward have doubts, however, whether there would be sufficient council votes to approve a large, or even a small, levy increase.

Finance Committee Member Alderman Warren Decatur, Fourth Ward, noted that last year his motion to increase the $2.5 million levy by an additional half-million dollars did not receive a second on the council floor.

"Where's the money going to come from when these expenditures arise," Miklovic asked the finance committee, asking them to consider the consequences if the council decides not to adjust the levy.

The city comptroller pointed to a low levy history as one of the main factors in the city's budget deficit today. Miklovic said a drastically-reduced $1.9 million levy in 1979, coupled with employee wage increase and new ambulance service expenses, laid the groundwork for the current budget problems.

HEARING AUG. 24

Miklovic acknowledged the steep $4.1 million levy represents only a starting point from which the aldermen must decide what goes and what stays in next year's budget. He said the final levy figure must be presented to County Clerk Evelyn Bowles by Sept. 14.

The comptroller has tentatively scheduled a public hearing on the levy Aug. 24. Some aldermen, including the finance chairman, object to the practice of levying dollar amounts to be spent for employee wages and the trash contract, prior to the negotiations or bidding. "Kind of like putting the horse before the cart," Milton contended.

Fix-your-own phone option

Illinois Bell Telephone customers have just one week to decide whether they wish to continue to pay the phone company a monthly fee of 40 cents for maintaining home telephone lines or whether they would prefer to discontinue the fee and be responsible for their own telephone line repairs, when necessary. Customers must notify the phone company by Monday, Aug. 16, if they wish to discontinue the monthly maintenance charge.

The Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) has approved a maintenance plan that will change how Illinois Bell provides and charges for the upkeep of telephone wiring and outlets in customer's homes or businesses. This plan applies to customers whose service consists of one or more lines leading only to regular or one-button (two line) phones.

The new plan, effective June 1, offers customers several different choices. "For a monthly fee of 40 cents per residence line and 45 cents per business line, customers can have Illinois Bell maintain the wiring on their premises without additional charge.

Customers may elect to have Illinois Bell make repairs, as needed, and pay a "per occasion" charge of $52 for residential repairs or $69 per (Continued on Page 4)

Tri-City race track closes unexpectedly

Tri-City Speedway has fallen prey to difficult times. With attendance sinking lower and the purse for winners increasing, promoter Dennis Scott decided Saturday night to close the track for the remainder of the season, despite five weeks remaining on the schedule.

A demolition derby will take place as scheduled Sunday night, but other races have been cancelled, according to Joe Senter, Speedway publicist.

Senter said that only 150 to 200 people attended Saturday night and the races were cancelled for the remainder of the season. No events were held Saturday. According to several in attendance, a sign was posted at the ticket office that there would be no late model stock cars competing.

It also had been rumored that there was some sort of disagreement in the promoter just decided to do away with the rest of the season," Senter said. He added that the decision was for purely economical reasons.

"It's been like everything. It's bad times. We had races scheduled Wednesday and Saturday. People just can't afford to go to them all."

With ticket prices of $7 for adults and $4 for children over 12, Senter said that families cannot afford to go to as many races.

Senter said he was not disappointed with the decision because "we had some wonderful races." He added that he did not lose money like the promoter did, but can sympathize with Scott, who puts up the purse for all the races.

"This time of year it tapers off automatically. People get tired of the races, I guess," Senter speculated.

Town tax levy is up only 3%

The Granite City Council has approved a $338,500 tax levy for operation of Granite City Township offices during the 1982-83 fiscal year. Although the city and township of Granite City are coextensive (share identical boundaries), some offices are exclusively township offices, including the supervisor, tax assessor and tax collector, and are funded through township levies and grants.

The GC Township levy — to be raised through property tax bills collected next summer — is up slightly, $15,000 more than last year's levy of $323,500.

The town tax rate is 28 cents per $100 assessed property valuation (equaling $28 a year on a $30,000 home, assessed at $10,000).

The levy will help support the recently approved $786,442 appropriations budget for this fiscal 1982-83 year.

A breakdown of the levy shows $315,000 will be distributed to the township's General Fund, which supports administrative officers, the tax assessor's and tax collector's offices and employees and township hall expenses.

The General Assistance Fund, which pays for administrators and food, clothing, medical and housing expenses for senior citizens and the needy, will receive $203,500.

The Municipal Retirement Fund for employees will receive $20,000. There was no discussion on the levy prior to its passage.

School cooks settle

Granite City Community Unit District 9 cafeteria workers, members of Service Employees Local 98, have ratified their one-year working agreement with school district, clearing the way for the opening of new term.

The cafeteria employees' union was the only group with a contract expiring this year. Other school district unions are in the middle of two-year contracts.

Granite City schools will open for classes on Aug. 24.

Superintendent of School B.J. Davis said the cooks ratified the contract with the district Friday. Harold Hillmer, negotiator for the district, said the cooks have agreed to a one-year contract that includes a two percent pay increase during the 1982-83 school year.

Donald Murphy, business agent for the union, said all full-time cafeteria employees who had been working an eight-hour day have agreed to cut their hours back to seven hours a day. Murphy said the workers agreed to the reduced hours in order to gain the immediate reinstatement of seven of 11 cafeteria workers, members of the union who had been laid off by the district one year ago.

The business agent expects the other four employees on layoff status to be brought back as soon as there are openings.

Cooks who had worked seven hours daily last year will be cut back to four hours work each day, Murphy said. Even though working at the reduced hours — and subsequently receiving pay for a reduced amount of hours — employees still will be eligible for the same fringe benefits allowed under the heavier workload.

Hillmer said he will recommend the terms of the agreement to the school board for formal acceptance at the Aug. 24 board meeting.

Contract talks with the cooks began late last month. The status of the cooks had been somewhat in limbo when the district began exploring different means to curb huge deficits incurred by the (Continued on Page 4)

Seek church support for Lutheran High

The traditional observance of "Lutheran High School Sunday" comes at the end of this month. The celebration marks the opportunity for churchgoers to tangibly express their gratitude for the Christian secondary education.

The appeal directly aids the Metro-East Lutheran High School Association in operating and maintaining a quality secondary Christian education for a growing student body. A 26 percent increase in enrollment to 140 students means additional facilities are needed, along with an increase in staff to maintain the student-staff ratio. In addition to those needs, the basic cost of education continues to rise and makes balancing the budget more difficult, a spokesman said.

Metro-East Lutheran High, now beginning its sixth year of operation and looking forward to graduating its third class, is the only Illinois Lutheran High School located south of Springfield and the only Lutheran High School in the Southern Illinois District. The appeal hopes to attain support from the entire district as proposed at the District Convention of February, 1982, where a resolution was adopted encouraging all congregations to more closely work with the MELHS Association to help ease the financial burden of ministering through secondary education.

Beginning Aug. 29, and continuing through September, congregations are being asked to choose a Sunday to celebrate the observance of "Lutheran High School Sunday," the spokesman explained.

Bi-State stressing teamwork

Richard F. Baalmann, incoming chairman of the Bi-State Development Agency board, has outlined what he sees as the future direction and role of the board, management and employees. He spoke during the weekend at a monthly meeting of the board, the first since he became chairman.

Baalmann said the role of the Board of Commissioners is to establish broad key objectives and policies for the agency to follow.

"Written policies will aid the agency," Baalmann said, "by giving clear direction on significant matters."

"The management is called on to get better results for our investors. The public has, through federal, state and local governments, funded the agency. You must treat that investment as if it were your very own. Conserve it and help it grow."

Baalmann said the role of the executive director is to act as the day-to-day representative of the commission, serve as a management consultant, and as the link between the agency and funding sources and community leadership. "We expect you to carefully measure the financial and operational performance of both divisions so that they meet commission-set budgets, objectives and policies," Baalmann told Executive Director Manuel De La O.

"Our direction flows through you to our operating divisions in bringing Bi-State's potential and performance to the community."

In reference to agency employees, Baalmann said they "are the do-ers. Without them, there would be no results and no need for management."

"The national average for transit operating revenues from farebox collections is 40.7 percent and Bi-State's collections are around 25 percent — up from 17 percent two years ago."

"The farebox ratio to expense must come up, long term, to perhaps 50 percent," he said. "This does not mean raising fares to self-defeating levels."

"This does mean that the entire transit organization works for the same goal of increasing the farebox ratio in a variety of ways. I urge all employees to promote pass sales, find cost-cutting opportunities in their individual areas, and treat transit patrons with courtesy and on-time performance."

"This is a team," Baalmann said. "With strong guidance from the commission, our employees will seize the opportunities before them and be proud of their personal contribution."

Australian language includes surprises for GC girl there

By MIKE MOORE
of the Press-Record
"I'm so glad to be back! I had a great time in Australia and it's a beautiful continent, but I really missed my friends and family," Carole Busch, the Granite City High School South student, who spent 11 months in Australia studying at an all-girls school, said.

It was the greatest experience I've ever had. I recommend that anyone interested in becoming an exchange student, not just think about it, but do it," the American with a new Australian accent said.

While in Australia Miss Busch had a high grade point average. The only class I had difficulty with was Australian history. Before I went there, the only thing I knew about the 'land down under' was that Olivia Newton John and Prisoner Cell Block #9 were both from that area," Miss Busch said. She brought home bags of souvenirs, including Australian records, stuffed Kooka bears, a peace pipe and the entire skin of a Kangaroo with the long tail. "I can't believe I got through customs with that huge skin. I think it's beautiful," Miss Busch said. She plans to hang the skin on her bedroom wall.

"One of the first things I wanted to do when I got home was to see Dr. Pepper. Australia didn't sell them and I haven't had one in almost a year," Miss Busch said as she poured in the lid of her first Dr. Pepper bottle in almost a year. After drinking her soft drink, Miss Busch replied, "Ah, it was worth the wait."

Miss Busch's mother, Cathy Busch, noted, "I remember when Carole came home from school last year and had an application to become an exchange student. The first thing I said was 'No.' Then, on the last day that they were accepting applications, I called Carole at school and said she could go."

Everyone in Miss Busch's family was excited when she returned home. Miss Busch's sister, Anita, recalled, "We were all happy, but nobody was more excited than Mom. She was counting the minutes before Carole was supposed to come home." Miss Busch returned home July 12.

FROM DOWN UNDER, Carole Busch demonstrates the proper techniques of throwing a boomerang she was given during her one-year study in Australia. The Australian Armed Forces hat was another gift she received during her year's study. Behind her is yet another gift, an Australian flag. The Union Jack flag, she recalls, thought it was the Union Jack flag," she recalls.

Australia, her friends decorated her yard with large signs saying, "We'll miss you," "Australia or bust, she'll take the bust" and "Bye, bye." Before her arrival, the same faithful friends painted more signs and tied yellow ribbons around neighborhood trees. "The day Carole left, she made up her mind that she wasn't going to cry at all, but when she walked outside and saw the yard, she burst into tears," Miss Busch's father, Bill Busch, recalled.

She recalls, "I sure have faithful friends. Before I left, they threw me a party and decorated my yard. I thought that when I came back, everyone would have forgotten me, but they decorated my yard again." Although Australians speak English, many phrases have totally different meanings in America. For instance, Miss Busch recalls the time one of her host families pushed their baby up to her and said "Here Carole, give her a nurse." Miss Busch was astonished. She discovered that "to nurse" simply means to hold and cuddle an infant.

"I soon learned that to be stuffed in Australia means that you're pregnant," Miss Busch said. "Once a man asked me if I wanted a torch in my tent and all he meant was, 'Do you want a flashlight?'" she said.

While living in Australia, Miss Busch stayed with five host families. They were responsible for her well being and entertainment during her visit. Four of the host families had built-in swimming pools, one owned private airplanes, one family took her on a cruise and another lived near a river and had a yacht. "I had it pretty good, I'll admit," Miss Busch concluded.

Grand jury inquiry into Moss allegations Aug. 19

Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber said Thursday afternoon that he will ask a Madison County grand jury Thursday, Aug. 19, to study allegations against Gerald C. Moss, 59, of Madison, a national trucking and business figure. The grand jury's session this Thursday already is "booked up," Weber said.

The Aug. 19 inquiry will look into Moss' alleged behavior in forcing a private investigator and a woman to walk at gunpoint from their car to his home at 1839 Sixth St., where he allegedly held them briefly and threatened them until police arrived.

Weber said that if police reports warrant, the grand jury also will look into allegations that Moss refused to relinquish a gun in his pocket to Madison County Police Donald Bridick and that the two struggled over control of the gun until Moss placed it under a pillow and officers recovered it.

The state's attorney said that when two charges of unlawful restraint were authorized against Moss after the incident, Weber was unaware of the allegations concerning the struggle with Chief Bridick over the gun.

"Nobody told me that. They may have told me, but they didn't tell me," he stated.

However, Weber noted, it is common procedure in such cases to charge the defendant with one or more of the serious charges, "just to hold him," and then "present the rest of the case to the grand jury."

He said circumstances surrounding the incident seem to be that Moss thought he was being watched by the private investigator and was angered by it.

Allegedly trying to stop it did not seem to warrant an armed violence charge, which carries a penalty of "a minimum of six years in the penitentiary," Weber said. He said that, due to mitigating circumstances, and the fact that Moss "didn't hurt anybody," the state's attorney's office decided to charge him with the two counts of unlawful restraint, both felonies, and then let the grand jury act "as the conscience of the community."

The private investigator, Ernest L. White of St. Louis, said he and the woman were parked on the street when a van, allegedly driven by Moss, pulled from the driveway of the Moss house without headlights, directly at White's car.

As the van neared the auto, White attempted to back away, but the van's headlights came on; Moss allegedly jumped from the van, pointed a .30-caliber carbine at White and pulled him out of the car, demanding to see his identification.

Moss allegedly wore a bulletproof vest at the time. The woman also was ordered out and asked for her identification, they told officers.

A movie camera with a zoom lens, a spotlight and power pack, two radios, a pair of binoculars and a thermos were taken from the car and thrown onto the street, damaging some items, police said.

A witness reported seeing a man, alleged to be Moss, holding the two at gunpoint while White and the woman were marched to Moss' home. The witness called police.

White alleged that Moss threatened to break their arms and legs and, at one point, threatened to make them "dig a hole" for themselves.

Moss was arrested after the alleged struggle over the gun. Chief Criminal Judge Philip J. Rarick set bond for Moss at $15,000 and Moss subsequently posted $1,500 cash and was released.

YMCA says, 'Send us your children'

The Tri-City Area YMCA is offering a new after school child-care, fitness program for youths 5 to 11 years of age.

Dave Femrite, director of the 'Y,' says that this program is in response to requests from many parents and information from several elementary school principals, advising that after school is an unsupervised time for a large percentage of youth and is becoming increasingly so, because of the need for more and more women to enter the job market.

Our after school Fun-N-Fitness program can solve that problem. The 'Y' will pick up children in a bus at their schools, right after school, bring them to the 'Y' and show them a fun time, playing games in the gym and having recreational swims in the pool. "Mom and dad can relax and know that their children are being well cared for. This program is a real convenience for parents," Femrite stated. "Bring us your kids. We'll take good care of them and give them back to you healthy and happy," he concluded.

Injury, 3 charges in Nameoki crash

Darrell Buettner, 23, Granite City Rural Route Two, was charged with passing a stoplight, driving with a suspended license and leaving the scene of a crash at 12:15 a.m. Friday. He was taken into custody at Jill and Wayne avenues.

Alan D. Sims, 22, of 4732 Warnock Ave., who suffered minor injuries, was driven a pickup truck west on Johnson Road and tried to cross Madison Avenue with the green light.

The front of the truck hit the left side of Buettner's southbound auto, whose speed carried it forward. Its right side struck a stoplight standard at the southwest corner of the intersection. The car continued on and crossed the Nameoki Road median, coming to a halt in northbound lanes. The pursuit by a witness to the Jill-Wayne area followed.

FIREWORKS ARREST
A Granite City boy, 16, was released on $52 cash bail after being arrested at 7:30 p.m. Thursday for setting off fireworks and dropping them from the 19th Street overpass.

Feels use of photo in bad taste

To the Editor: I just picked up the paper and saw the picture, on the front-page, of an accident on McCambridge. I can't begin to tell you how shocked I am. How can you print the picture showing the man lying on the street for his family to see? This is a picture his two children and wife will remember the rest of their lives. Less than one month ago, I brought an article to your newsroom about our family reunion. Two of my boys traveled from California with their families and one of my boys flew home from Georgia so we could all be together for the first time in 12 years.

I had pictures that a professional photographer took with me. I asked if one of them could go in the paper. I was told, "Oh we don't print pictures unless there are four or five generations." It was only three generations, but it was a "happy" occasion for us. My children grew up in Granite City and I'm sure their friends would have liked to see them.

But you choose to print a picture of a dying man in your paper. Would you like to see a picture of a loved one in this condition or, if you are in an accident, would you want your children to see you like this?

Be honest now and think what this picture is going to do. I can't believe that you Granite City paper zeros in on happier events? I know there are lots of sad things happening—a lot of crimes going on—but why can't you have a part of your paper publishing happy articles. Believe me, (we Granite City residents) would welcome a column like that. We didn't need to see pictures like this—it hurts too many people.

Editor's note: We, at the Press-Record, do not enjoy taking photos of painful and fatal accidents; we do not enjoy printing arrests and prison sentences.

However, one of many definitions of "news" is "what people are talking about." A fatal accident is an important news item that people talk about and expect to see in their newspaper.

There are many "good news" magazines available, but none of them qualify as a newspaper. A newspaper must carry the bad news, along with the good.

We believe the Press-Record carries its share.

Democrat Day at Ill. State Fair Thursday

Thousands of Illinois Democrats are expected to attend "Democrat Day" at the State Fair in Springfield Thursday. The Madison County Democrat Day will be held at 4:30 p.m. at the Springfield Hilton.

Party leaders anticipate this year's turnout will be the largest in years. "I fully expect this year's turnout to rival any in recent history," Philip J. Rock, state party chairman, said. "The Democratic Party membership statewide has committed itself to a demonstration of unity."

Charges result from accident

Three persons were charged following an accident at Johnson Road and Terrace Lane at 11:10 p.m. Friday in which a passenger in one of the vehicles involved allegedly fled the scene after carrying three beer bottles. Driving the vehicles were Rodger Hahn, 19, of 2222 Berr Ave., who was charged with illegal transportation of alcohol, and Dana M. Evans, 17, of 4024 Ash Ave., charged with fleeing to avoid the responsibility of a stop sign. An officer near the scene of the collision reported seeing James Stagner, 19, of 215 Darn Ave., a passenger in the Hahn auto, get out of the vehicle carrying three beer bottles and throw them into a nearby trash dumpster. Stagner was charged with illegal possession of alcohol.

good news. A recent front-page picture of a boy catching a fish at Horseshoe Lake probably did not have much news value, but was a happy photo and one which should have made people feel good. Weddings, reunions, births, carnivals, sidewalk sales, club activities, success stories—all receive their fair share of publicity, we feel. Our reporters now are working on several interesting features which can only be considered good news and which will be appearing in subsequent issues of the Press-Record.

One of our competitors last year ignored the Brimberry story for several weeks, saying that it started as a police item and that paper does not carry police items. That is one way to avoid bad news—ignore it—but we do not feel that a thorough newspaper should do that.

Over the years, rules have developed regarding what types of photos we will accept (publication is simply because of time and space limitations). For instance, a graduating high school senior who has four years to earn his diploma. Any other effort requiring four years would qualify for publication.

However, the sheer number of graduating Quad-City area seniors each year fills nearly two pages, just listing the names. To run all of the photos would have filled several issues of the paper. The same is true with family reunions. To run a three-generation photo would mean that we would need to accept all subsequent three-generation photos, to treat everyone fairly. Our family has a three-generation reunion.

One time we drove the children three days to grandmother's house. It, unfortunately, does not carry the same weight importance or news value as a fatal accident, in our opinion.

Our hearts go out to the family of the deceased. It was a terrible tragedy, but by ignoring it would not have kept it from being a tragedy.

We long for the day there will be no bad news. No plant closings, no unemployment, no serious accidents or house fires, no beatings, stabbings or arrests—but we doubt that day will come.

In the meantime, we pledge to be more alert for good news and give it proper attention, but we cannot continue to do our job—reporting all the news, good and bad.

which, we are confident, will carry the main gate of the November general election," he said. The focal point of this year's Democrat Day will be the appearance of six candidates for statewide office. All six are scheduled to meet with the media before the huge parade into the fairgrounds. A rally at the handsell inside the main gate of the state fairgrounds will follow the parade with refreshments served from 2 to 4 p.m. on the lawn of the agriculture department director's residence.

Costello, 26, of San Jose, Calif., formerly of Granite City, was charged with driving while his license was suspended and a stop sign violation at 11:25 p.m. Friday at Niedringhaus Avenue and Walnut Street. Union asks to inspect the county's financial books Madison County's books are to be inspected by union officials from Madison County Teamsters Local 225. Officials are inspecting the books to see if a pending financial crisis is real or false.

According to Dave McFarland, business agent, the workers will probably "challenge" the county, depending on what figures they come up with. Supposedly every item will be in question.

County officials warned that unless some expenses are cut or more revenue is produced, a $2.2 million deficit could be in store for the following year's budget.

It has been noted by union representatives that they probably will be very averse to concessions.

The county made suggestions concerning cutting expenses, including employee layoffs (not negotiable), wage freezes and staggered or shorter work weeks. Wage freezes and/or reduced work weeks require a renegotiation of the contracts with representatives from each of the three unions representing county employees.

Fred Dalton, county Personnel Committee member, said that concessions may be necessary, whether or not the union will rely upon the outcome of a referendum this fall. The referendum would produce approximately $500,000 to $600,000 to help support the Madison County Nursing and Sheltered Care Homes.

The county and the workers are to meet this month. The day and time is unknown at this point.

Madison School Board OKs purchases

Members of the Madison School Board agreed to purchase a trophy case for Madison High School and two IBM typewriters for the central office during the school board's meeting Thursday evening.

A Claridge two-section trophy case will be purchased from National Chair and Furniture Co. of St. Louis for $1,670. For a price of $228 each, two IBM typewriters will be purchased for office use. The older model typewriters now in use will be sold to interested citizens.

Acting President Ed Dohal requested that the teachers' negotiating committee schedule a meeting before the school term begins. The school board is willing to discuss business with the teachers' union at an early date, so talks will not interfere with the opening of school. The union will not meet until Monday, Aug. 16, a week before school begins. The board and school custodians already conducted a meeting last week.

In other business, Dohal was chosen as the voting delegate to the Illinois Association of School Boards and Mrs. Billie Bosworth was chosen as the alternate. Bids were received for the remodeling of the high school's boys' locker room, adding a partition and gate. The board will have to advertise for bids, since no complete bids were received. Neither were bids received for a sign which is to be erected on McCambridge Avenue, designating the route to the high school. It was announced that Blair and Louis Baer Schools have received Energy Management Awards from the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources. Both schools were able to save at least 10 percent on energy costs throughout the school year.

All Madison schools have been inspected by Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools, and are adequate and efficient for the conduct of classes this fall, the board was told.

Knife incident ends in arrest

Michael J. Wallace, 21, of Godfrey was arrested last week at Second Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, following an incident in which he allegedly threatened Joseph Marsala, 54, of the 200 block of Madison Avenue with a knife. Wallace faces state charges of aggravated assault, disorderly conduct and unlawful use of a weapon and a traffic charge of driving while his license is suspended.

Marsala told police he was driving south on Madison Avenue and was making a right turn onto Second Street when his vehicle was cut off by another vehicle.

In the 1400 block of Second Street, the driver of the second car got out and came toward Marsala. He was holding a knife in his hand and stated, "Get out of your car you old..." the victim told police.

Wallace, who allegedly threw the knife into his car upon seeing a squad car approaching, was taken into custody. He was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Open house at SIUE treatment plant Aug. 19

An Open House to give the public a peek inside a water or wastewater treatment plant and to introduce prospective students to careers in water quality control is scheduled Thursday, Aug. 19, at the Environmental Resources Training Center (ERTC) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The center, which has trained more than 2,000 working water and wastewater operators throughout Illinois since 1976, also operates a new one-year training program at Edwardsville for full-time students in water quality control. The ERTC has been designated the official water and wastewater training center by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

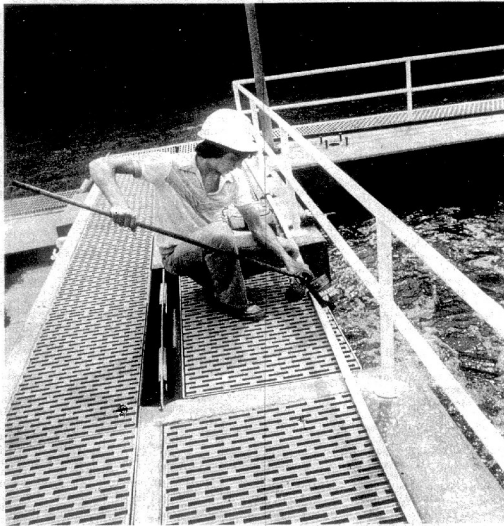

The facility, located on Poag Road on the Edwardsville campus, includes a 30,000-gallon-a-day pilot treatment plant, wet chemistry and instrumental analysis labs, a library and media support center, a self-instruction lab, and pilot water and wastewater equipment constructed to scale.

George Arnold, ERTC acting director, will introduce the open house program and welcome guests in the ERTC auditorium at 6:30 p.m. Donald Anderson and Thomas Wooters, ERTC program directors, will discuss water supply and wastewater treatment operations.

The Open House includes a walking tour of the university's nearby treatment plant at 7:30 p.m. demonstrations of typical chemical analysis tests, pumping systems and hydraulic equipment used in water quality control.

Continuous videotape and film shows will explain water resource problems, plant operations and water treatment, including one tape on the natural history of the water closet.

Other demonstrations will show visitors a microscopic

ERTC instructors and staff also will be available to answer specific questions or give advice about careers in water quality control at beginning salaries of $14,000.

The first class to complete the new full-time water quality control certificate program at ERTC will graduate Aug. 27. New students interested in enrolling in the one-year program may pick up applications and additional information during the open house. Admission to the university or qualifying tests are not required. Orientation begins Sept. 20, with actual classwork beginning Sept. 27.

For additional information or applications, interested persons may contact the ERTC career coordinator at Campus Box 75, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026, or call 1-682-2030.

County will react to utility rates Aug. 18

The Madison County Board will be asked to vote this month on whether it will join the growing opposition to a proposed Illinois Power rate hike.

Madison County's official opposition to Illinois Power's rate-hike request is needed to prevent an increase in the county's own power bill, according to buildings committee member Jack Frandsen.

The Alhambra board member introduced a resolution at last week's buildings committee meeting. It opposes the request Illinois Power has made with the Illinois Commerce Commission for higher gas and electric rates.

This year's power bill for all county buildings was nearly $465,000, he said. The committee passed the resolution, and it will now go to the full board Aug. 18 for a vote.

"I think the Illinois Commerce Commission will have an open mind and take into consideration the impact on homeowners and governmental bodies," Frandsen said.

"I realize the utilities have to make it, but they don't have to have an abundance of profit."

The county currently faces a 1983 budget in which expenditures will have to be $2 million less than in 1982.

Frandsen, like many other board members, has said in the past that employee layoffs will be unavoidable.

Frandsen said even more layoffs will be necessary if the county's power bill goes up.

"If they (Illinois Power) get the increase they're asking for, it could increase our budget another $200,000," Frandsen said.

The county could also be adversely affected by another Illinois Power request. The utility currently charges a higher rate for customers which use more than 500 kilowatt hours, and Illinois Power is now asking that the ceiling be lowered to 400 kilowatt hours, he said.

According to Frandsen, the county needs a control device that would shut down areas in county buildings when the county neared the 400 kilowatt hour ceiling. He said the county gets close to the 400 mark on hot summer days.

Frandsen estimated that, for $50,000, a system could control energy use in all county buildings.

Annual Rediscover Cahokia at Mounds Aug. 14 and 15

"Rediscover Cahokia" annual festivities will be Aug. 14 and 15 at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site.

The weekend event is scheduled to demonstrate what life must have been like a thousand years ago, when a prehistoric civilization flourished near St. Louis. Just a few miles from the Mississippi River, the largest prehistoric city in the United States arose, surrounded by huge temple mounds. Monks Mound is the largest prehistoric structure in the United States.

"Hands-on" demonstrations are scheduled continuously throughout the weekend, including flintknapping (arrowhead making); weaving, pottery making; food preparation and basketry.

In addition, visitors may tour the site by bus, and may watch Indian dances and archery.

Among the areas that can be toured are the massive Monks Mound, the "woodhenge" site (similar to Stonehenge in England, and used for astronomical predictions); a mound where more than 300 burials, some sacrificial, have been excavated; a "borrow pit," where the Indians removed dirt to create the tremendous mounds, small grass houses built Indian-style and a garden planted with foods that prehistoric residents would have cultivated.

Visitors also will be able to tour the summer archaeological "dig." Excavations currently are being conducted at the site of a stockade fence which was built to surround the downtown area. Items found during the excavations will be displayed by local collectors and professional archaeologists.

Movies and videotapes will be regularly shown, adding to the interest. The event is free and will be from 11 a.m.

to 4 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Picnic tables, refreshments and a gift shop are available.

"Rediscover Cahokia" is sponsored by the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society in cooperation with the Illinois Department of Conservation. For more information, interested persons may write Post Office Box 388, Collinsville, Ill., 62234, or telephone 344-5268.

Cahokia Mounds Historic Site is located on Route 50 at Sand Prairie Lane, Southeast of Horseshoe Lake.

Anybody can be governor

Those who think they have what it takes to deal with the issues in the game of government, should be in the Illinois Department of Revenue display at the Illinois State Fair and run for governor.

A computer game in the Department's display in the Governor's Tent on Main Street will give visitors an opportunity to show just how attuned they are to the sentiments of Illinois voters.

Two players compete, trying to advance around the electronic game board and into the executive mansion.

But it won't be all fun and games at the Department's display. Workers from Revenue's Taxpayer Information Division will be on hand to answer questions and provide information.

The Department also will have a special booth in the Civic Center, located just off Main Street. Experts from the Department's Circuit Breaker Division will be there to explain eligibility criteria and help determine if seniors qualify for up to nearly $800 in cash grants.

A third Department of Revenue display will be set up in the Government Tent, which will be located on the southeast end of the fairgrounds. Brochures which explain the different types of taxes, their history and who to contact for further information will be available there.

71 counties receive youth employment funds, but local area is not among recipients

Governor James R. Thompson announced Wednesday that Illinois will receive an additional $270,229 in federal funding to extend the 1982 Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP), a step that will add 400 jobs to the program.

"The Summer Youth Employment Program is designed to provide work experience for economically-disadvantaged youths between the ages of 14 and 21, something that will improve their prospects for future employment and induce high school dropouts to return to school," Thompson said.

The program's employment and training money is provided by the U.S. Department of Labor to the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) for distribution to 71 rural counties. Madison County is not among them, however.

President Reagan recently approved $45 million in supplemental funding for SYEP, a decision which adds $2,405,104 to the program in Illinois. The additional funds are allocated for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act's (CETA) prime sponsors and the remaining funds will go to the state. The funding increases the total available to the state for SYEP to $39,664,940.

DCCA has targeted "wards of the state" and youths in families receiving public assistance to be a priority for placement in the program. Participants will receive, in addition to work experience, counseling on developing good work habits and occupational information to assist in making career choices.

Thompson said the infusion of additional funds is expected to add 400 summer jobs in the 71 rural counties where the program is administered by DCCA. An estimated 3,300 young people were hired at the outset of the program in June, a total that will now reach about 3,700 summer jobs. In the remaining 31 counties, the program is administered by local CETA prime sponsors.

"This is a significant boost to an important youth program," the governor said. "The youths who are involved in this program will be prepared for important future roles in the Illinois labor force."

Peter B. Fox, DCCA director, said the job training program is "an important element in the governor's Illinois, Inc., program. These young people are getting a unique opportunity — not only to work this summer, but to gain career skills for their eventual place in the working world."

The program began June 16 and will run until Sept. 30.

Mary L. Hotto, daughter of Mrs. Billie De Ford of Macomb, Ill., and Fred Hotto of Odessa, Texas, became the bride of Daniel Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cole of Hull, Ill., on June 12, at the Calvary Baptist Church in Macomb.

The bride is a former resident of Granite City.

The Rev. E. H. Fisher officiated the 2 o'clock service.

For her wedding the former Miss Hotto chose a gown featuring tiers of ruffled organza edged with Venice lace and butterfly sleeves. Appliques of Venice lace encircled the skirt that flowed into a chapel length train, detailed with Venice lace.

A cap of Venice lace, embellished with seed pearls, held in place a fingertip length Mantilla veil, bordered with matching lace. She carried a white lace adorned with white silk and light blue carnations and pastel blue baby's breath.

Mrs. Linda Kelley of Granite City, served as matron of honor. Suzie Cole, sister of the groom, Tammy Fowler and Patricia Hutto, the bride's sister, were bridesmaids.

They were attired in pale blue gowns embellished with white floral appliques. Each attendant carried bouquets similar to the bride's.

The flower girls were Deanna Kelley, and Jamie Kelley served as the ring bearer.

Seating the guests were Jeff Alsbeyer, Robert Hutto, brother of the bride and Geoff Cole, brother of the groom.

The bride will be a senior student at Macomb High School and formerly attended Granite City schools.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of Western Illinois University.

Following a honeymoon trip to Texas, the newly married couple is residing in Macomb, Ill.

Miss Lisa Gail Whitford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence (Gladys) Whitford, 2810 West 22nd St., and Willard Ray McKee, son of Mrs. Mary McKee, 2637a West 22nd St., and the late Billie Edward McKee, were united in marriage in an evening ceremony June 25, at the West 22nd St. Baptist Church.

The Rev. Louie Thiele and the Rev. Rudolph Noel officiated the 7 o'clock double ring service, followed by a reception at the Fellowship Hall in the church.

Nuptial selections, "It Is Love," "If I Let Be Me" and "We've Only Just Begun," were provided by organist Diane Walker and soloist James Garner.

The bride chose Janice Whitford, sister of the bride, as the maid of honor. Debbie Phillips and Norma McKee, sister of the groom, were the bridesmaids.

Nicole Whitford, a niece of the bride, and Chad Whitford, nephew of the bride, served as the flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. Billie McKee attended his brother as best man. Ed and Brad Whitford, brothers of the bride, served as groomsmen.

Ushers were John Whitford, brother of the bride, and Don Edwards and lighting the candles were Donetta and Jeanetta Teachman.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Granite City High School South and attended Belleville Area College.

A 1977 graduate of Granite City High School South, the groom is employed at A-1 Autobody.

Following a honeymoon to Carlyle Lake and Tennessee, the newly married couple is residing in Granite City.

Willing Workers to host picnic

The July meeting of the Willing Worker's of America was held at the Granite City Jaycee Hall. Guest speaker for the meeting was Granite City Fourth War Alderman Warren Decatur.

He talked about the economic conditions of the country and of the local area. Decatur said, "It is alarming to read about the high unemployment in Granite City." He stressed that high unemployment is not unique to this area or to the United States, but rather a worldwide phenomenon. Because technology is eliminating many jobs in the manufacturing field Decatur feels it is important for laid-off workers to begin retraining for the new jobs being created by the increased use of computer technology.

Various groups and individuals are trying to bring new diversification to the area, however a high interest rates are making that job difficult. Because of this, Decatur fielded questions and a general discussion ensued.

Other business conducted included the planning for a picnic for members, families, and friends, which will be held at the Granite City Installation (St. Louis Area Support Center-Granite City) Aug. 29, beginning at 10 a.m.

Those attending are to bring tableware, picnic lunch, and beverage for a family buffet. Folding chairs or other seating arrangements are also needed.

All laid-off workers are invited to attend as well as members, it was announced.

Exchange student finds Rio de Janeiro 'simply beautiful'

By MIKE MOORE
of the Press-Record

"I spent 10 of the most wonderful months of my life in Rio de Janeiro, a city in Brazil, South America," Patti Flanagan, a junior who recently came home from almost a year's study in a foreign country, said. "Rio is simply beautiful," she recalls.

Miss Flanagan flew to Rio de Janeiro last August 14, 1981, and returned June 26, 1982. "Sure, I missed everyone and the Granite City life, but if I could do my life over, I'd go again. As a matter of fact, I would like to do another exchange in college. One of my sisters wants to be an exchange student too, when she's old enough."

Miss Flanagan was one of the 120 U.S. and Canadian exchange students sponsored by the Rotary Club to be sent to a foreign country to live. Only two people went to Rio. Miss Flanagan was expected to speak their language. For the first time, a variation of Spanish. She said she knew a little Spanish and a language teacher gave her a book on Portuguese. "Other than that, I went in cold, but after a little while, I was doing fine," Brazilian Flanagan said.

Prior to her trip, Miss Flanagan knew little about Brazil — just what she learned in basic history classes. "I knew that Rio was a big tourist center," Miss Flanagan noted.

Every morning, Miss Flanagan had to get up at 5:30 to catch a city bus at 6:20 and start school at 7. "Sometimes that bus ride seemed longer than it actually was," she recalls.

"The most important part of my trip was to get to know people from different cultures. I got to know them so well, it was very difficult to say goodbye. I felt like a part of their families," Miss Flanagan explained. "I even called my families Mae and Pai (mom and dad in English)," Miss Flanagan said. "Everyone was extremely sincere in Rio," she added.

Miss Flanagan had to make monthly reports to the Rotary Club, because they sponsored her trip. She made slide presentations and gave talks on the American way of life. "The more people were perceptive and eager to learn more about America," Miss Flanagan said.

"Every country has different customs and it takes time learning how to change from Granite City's hamburgers and hot dogs to Brazil's bananas and coconuts," laughed Miss Flanagan.

South Americans eat more than bananas and coconuts, but these items are extremely common, Miss Flanagan said. "I've never eaten so many bananas in my life," she added.

"When Patti came home from school with an application in her hand, I didn't want her to go. I read some literature on exchange students and it said that you had to be at least 16 years old. I realized that Patti would only be 15, and that meant she couldn't go, even if I said yes," Mrs. Rita Overby, Patti's mother,

"I'M HOME!" Patti Flanagan wears a Brazilian T-shirt given to her during her stay in Rio de Janeiro. The shirt has a picture of a popular soccer team's mascot. According to Miss Flanagan, soccer is a very popular sport in Rio, but the girls' teams are not as popular as the boys' squads.

since they were and I knew they cared about Patti," Mrs. Flanagan said.

A common characteristic between Rio and Granite City is that soccer is popular in both areas. While in Rio, Patti played for her school team. "They have very good teams here, but the girls' teams aren't as big as the boys' squads," Patti said.

To be an exchange student, Patti had to agree to possibly repeat a year of school. "I don't think I had to repeat a year, because I had to take a lot of classes before I went and I had a pretty high grade-point average," notes Miss Flanagan.

There are exchange students between Rio and Granite City. There doesn't seem to be a middle class in Rio. In Granite City, you never see beggars on the streets, but it was very common in Rio. They live in shacks on the side of the mountains. It looks as if their houses will fall down at any moment," Miss Flanagan said.

The hardest part about being an exchange student is that one has to adjust to a whole different lifestyle and culture, she explained. Customs, foods, languages, phrases, ideals, dress, schools, government, attitudes and relationships can be very different in another country.

One big difference is that Brazilians hug and kiss each other more than Americans. Friendship hugs are given frequently. Two kisses are a way of saying, hello.

"It is important to touch each other in our lives. It is reassuring to know that someone cares. That is why I felt so safe while Patti was in Rio, because I knew how you can Bank on it!

DREW KARANDJIC

President

Q. It seems bankrupt, although drastic, is becoming more attractive to people who are in serious financial trouble. Aren't there other steps which can possibly avoid bankruptcy?

A. Bankruptcy is rarely necessary and should only be viewed, after careful legal counseling, as a final, drastic step. Alternatives include the following. First, get in touch with each creditor. Explain current problems along with the assurance the bills will be paid as soon as possible. Set up with each creditor a payment plan, plus a strict budget, to allow this. Generally, if creditors are made aware how much can be paid each month and it's reasonable, they will cooperate. Be sure payments are made as agreed and outlined under the plan. Buy nothing on credit, until old bills are completely paid. Finally, if any unforeseen problems, like illness, arise during the pay-off plan, creditors should be informed. Using a positive, constructive plan, the trauma of bankruptcy may be avoided, resulting in a debt-free business and trust built among creditors.

Paddler swimmers win third SWISA championship

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record
BELLFONTAINE, NEIGHBORS, Mo. — The Paddlers swimming team really didn't need the announcer at Saturday's Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association conference swimming championship to tell them the Paddlers won the championship.

While most of the swimmers left the pool after the final event at 6:30 p.m., the Paddlers and their backers stayed around another hour just to hear the announcement and see the team get the trophy.

As soon as the trophies were brought out of the Eagles' clubhouse, the younger members of the team ran toward the building and surrounded the table where the trophies were. The announcer told them to back 20 feet from the table because of would be a delay before the results were announced.

The Paddlers didn't back off. Extremely loud screams greeted the announcer when the results came in. Loud screams also accompanied the announcement of each high point winner the Paddlers had.

In all, the Paddlers took six of the 10 high point awards for the 10 age divisions. However, the biggest yell of all came when the announcer said the Paddlers won the team title with 519 points, 137 points ahead of second place Mchlaire.

The yell was almost ear piercing. "It was tremendous," Paddlers coach Celeste Sonnenberg said about the team's performance. "It was a whole team effort. Without one or two of them coming through, we wouldn't have won."

Tremendous was probably an understatement. The Paddlers won its third consecutive SWISA championship, and this title was potentially the most difficult for the Paddlers.

Eight teams participated in the meet, the largest number ever, but the Paddlers' team effort produced unexpected points which gave them an easy victory.

This was the fastest SWISA championship, and many team, pool and conference records were broken. The Paddlers did their share of record breaking in the meet as 27 records were broken.

Miss Sonnenberg expected most of the swimmers who won high point championships to do so, but a surprise was Larry Curry in the eight and under division.

"I knew it was going to be real close with him. I thought the other ones who won would probably win."

Curry won the boys' 25 yard backstroke, and came in second in the 50 yard free style and fly stroke races.

Swimming

Other high point winners for the Paddlers were Jenny Baker in the eight and under girls, Mark Fussell in the 9-10 boys, David Baker in the 11-12 boys, Patti Martin in the 11-12 girls, and Cindi Strotheide in the 15-18 girls division.

"Our swimmers really came through for us. They really did a good job for us," Miss Sonnenberg said.

"We needed every single person to do his or her thing or else we would only get second place. Our team really supports each other well like that, and I think that's the reason the Paddlers do so well."

The team effort reason exhausted the Paddlers. The team had been at the meet since 7 a.m., and the winning yells were simply a release of energy.

"They're really crazy when they win," Miss Sonnenberg said. "They've been working since the first week of June and all they've been talking about was the championship."

McDonalds splits E'ville pair; retains first place

By NANCY WEIL

of the Press-Record

The McDonalds Inter-city League team should be accustomed to the position it was in yesterday before a doubleheader with the Edwardsville Nationals at Wilson Park diamond No. 1. Like last Monday night's doubleheader against Corral, the members of McDonalds knew they had to win at least one game in order to stay in first. Losing two to Edwardsville would have meant a tie.

After dropping the first game, 6-1, McDonalds had one purpose in mind: winning the second game. They did just that, squeaking out an 8-7 win.

"We wanted first," Ray Harris, McDonalds' manager, said. A tie for first, he added, was not good enough. With play-offs next weekend, Harris wanted to be certain McDonalds would have the first place advantage.

But it was not easy to come out of the afternoon ahead. Edwardsville was psyched up and played well all afternoon.

In fact, if McDonalds' batters had hit in the second game the way they did in the first, the standings would definitely be tied right now.

McDonalds only run in the opening game, which was delayed while the grounds crew worked on the diamond to repair the wet spots, came in the seventh inning. Bob Ford singled and was brought home on a fielder's choice hit by Kevin Sykes.

But what really hurts is that McDonalds stranded five runners during the first game and three of those five were on third base when the last out was made. In the first, fifth and seventh, McDonalds had runners in prime scoring position, but failed to bring them home.

"We weren't hitting that first game. We knew we had to win the second one. But I hate John Becherer, 24.43, placed third. Old record: 24.83.

Boyer, Squires win district tourneys

Tom Boker, home on leave from the Navy, spent part of his vacation playing in the Wilson Park Tennis Tournament last weekend. Boker defeated John Longos to take the men's championship singles, 6-0, 6-1.

Boker and Susan Squires teamed up to win mixed doubles by defeating Theresa Gwady and Bob Harshany.

In women's singles, Theresa Jwadiac won by forfeit over Merry Trianj. Jim Squires defeated Ralph Willoughby, 6-2, 6-1 to win the men's over-35 singles.

Wilson Park tennis tourney is scheduled for next week

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record
The 22nd annual Granite City District tennis tournament will be held next week at Wilson Park, it was announced by Mike Barnes, tournament director.

As it has been from the tournament's beginning in 1960, the meet is being underwritten by the Granite City Park District.

Said Barnes: "We are hopeful that more residents of the district will accept invitations to play in the tournament ... from the youngest groups (14 and under, boy and girls), on up through the seniors. Local players have, in the past, more than held their own in competition with players from throughout the state of Illinois and from St. Louis."

He went on to list the names of local players who have won the men's title down through the years: Ron Underwood; Dave Moss; John Van Buskirk; and Billy Rusten.

Dates of the invitational will be Friday, Aug. 13, Saturday, Aug. 14 and Sunday, Aug. 15.

The various classes are: Boys 14 and under and boys 16 and under; girls 14 and under and 16-and-under; junior boys, 18-and-under; and girls, 18-and-under; men's singles and doubles; senior men, singles and doubles, 35-and-over; senior women and doubles, 35-and-over.

Trophies will be awarded to all winners.

Play will start for the younger ages at 9 a.m., Friday, Aug. 13, while play in the older classes is due to get underway at 9 a.m. Saturday.

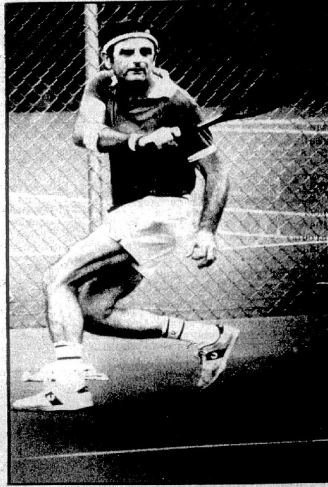

Barnes said drawings and seedings for the various age groups will be made late

In father-child doubles Dan Isom and his son Todd defeated John Suarez and his daughter Andrea.

Robby Lombardi defeated Dereck Trianj, 6-0, 6-2 in boy's 14-and-under singles competition.

In the same division in doubles Trianj and Matt Krekovich beat Steve Falvey and William Falbey.

Junior boys singles was won by Charlie Miles, who defeated Kevin Dickerson, 6-0, 6-0. Both Miles and Dickerson played last year at Granite City High School South.

TENNIS CHAMP. Jim Squires defended his title as the over 35 men's tennis champion Thursday in the Granite City Park District tournament with a victory over Ralph Willoughby. Coincidentally, the two were the finalists in last year's competition.

Bill Seebold to vie for St. Louis Grand Prix crown

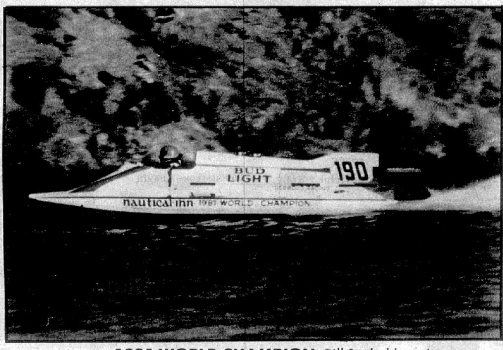

ST. LOUIS — The internationally renowned Budweiser Light racing team of 1981 world champion Bill Seebold and his son Mike will be among the top drivers competing in the seventh event of the 1982 National Powerboat Association (NPA), season, set for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 14 to 15 here.

Bill Seebold and his family, formerly of Granite City, owned Granite City Boat and Motor now located on Route 3 in Granite City.

Sponsored by the Concord Village Lions Club and Busch Beer, the NPA event will feature the sport's best drivers competing on a one-mile oval course on the Meramec River at George Winter Park in Fenton.

Formula "T" racers will compete for $10,000, while drivers in the Formula II, "Mod Up" and "Sport E" classes will be vying for a total purse of $15,000. Drivers in all four classes also will be competing for points toward a year-end NPA series championship. Race action is set to begin at noon both days.

In addition to top drivers from throughout the U.S., the Seebolds will also be competing against top racers from around the world, including Great Britain's Mark Wilson, Tony Williams and Fiona Brothers, the only woman driver on the Union International Motorboating (UIM) circuit; Michael Werner of West Germany; and Brazilian Julio Corbetta.

1981 WORLD CHAMPION. Bill Seebold, senior member of the Bud Light Powerboat Racing Team, has 49 world records to his credit behind the wheel of his "Mod 120" Formula 1 tunnel-hull boat which is equipped with a modified 120-cubic inch electronic fuel-injected engine and can reach speeds of up to 125 miles per hour. Voted "Driver of the Year" in 1974, Seebold was also named to the sport's top driver in 1966 in addition to becoming the youngest man ever inducted into the Marine Hall of Fame. Seebold, formerly of Granite City, will compete in the Grand Prix later this month in St. Louis.

Of the six NPA and two other races they have competed in this season, the Seebolds have combined for first-place finishes at each event. Father Bill has won five of his eight starts with son Mike capturing the checkered flag at the other three races.

During a practice run at the last NPA race in Ogallala, Neb., which Bill Seebold won with an average speed of 81.9 miles per hour — Mike Seebold was injured when his boat shot in the air, followed by a "roller" wave. Although he was treated for lacerations, a sprained ankle and torn tendons, Mike is expected to compete at the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix. Both members of the Budweiser Light racing team compete in 17' 8" tunnel-hull boats featuring Mercury two-litre fuel-injected engines. These "Mod-120s," as they are called, can reach speeds of up to 125-mph.

The 1982 graduating class of 372 students was the largest in Evangel's history. It included 333 bachelor's degree candidates and 39 associate of arts candidates. Commencement speaker was the Rev. G. Raymond Carlson, assistant general superintendent of the Assemblies of God.

The serviceman received his bachelor of science degree in business education from Western Illinois University in 1970 and is serving at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

He is currently residing in Woodbridge, Va., with his wife, Sarah, and two daughters, Rochelle and Denise.

Taylor is attending the Marine Corps Command and Staff College in Quantico, Va., and upon completion, he hopes to be assigned with troops, according to the announcement.

Munz named SLU associate director

David C. Munz, Ph.D., has been named the associate director for non-patient services, St. Louis University Hospitals, effective July 1.

In his new position, Dr. Munz will be responsible for the design and implementation of services and programs to reduce health care costs to business and industry. Existing programs include stress management, employee assistance, health promotion, occupational health, private sector utilization review and the research and evaluation of all of these programs. Future efforts will be directed at developing programs for older adults, children and families as a whole.

Cost reductions are achieved by emphasizing early detection, prevention and health promotion, and by using the worksite as the place of delivery, further savings are made. Programs of this type, according to Dr. Munz, have made St. Louis University Medical Center a leader in redefining and revolutionizing the health care delivery system.

Currently corporate clients for the medical center's health promotion programs number 150 while 21 other hospitals across the country are involved in a national network in which they are trained to deliver medical center programs in their local communities.

"We are fortunate to have Dr. Munz assume this new position," said Richard L. Stensrud, director of the Hospitals. "His enthusiasm, background and leadership, we are certain, will assure success."

Dr. Munz earned his master's and doctorate degrees in psychology at the University of Oklahoma, Norman. He went to St. Louis University in 1969 as a faculty member in the department of psychology, where he holds the rank of professor. In 1978, he was named director of the department of health promotion at the medical center.

DeMolays enroll three

Brett, Carner, Robert Ishum, and Douglas Broadway of Staunton, Ill., became DeMolays when they were conferred with the Initiatory and DeMolay degrees at the regular meeting of James Stuart Chapter at the Masonic Temple, last week. Carner and Ishum were members of James Stuart Chapter and Douglas Broadway of John Monroe Chapter of Staunton marked additions to the oldest and youngest chapter of Illinois DeMolay. The Staunton Chapter was organized last year and the local chapter in 1919.

Officers with Robert Hebblethwaite Jr. as master councilor conferred the Initiatory degree into the DeMolay degree team including Neal Mize as orator; Hiram Ables, DeMolay; Ralph F. McKinney Jr., Guy of Avergne; Pat Gibbon; Hugh de Perale; Fred Trebing; Godfrey de Gonville; Kelly Smith, master inquisitor; Alan Forbes, senior inquisitor; Brad Wofford, junior inquisitor; Jimmy K. Stuart, marshal of commission; Mike Hargrave, marshal's guard; Todd Todaro, John Dojorian, Kenny Maier, Matt Cotter, inquisitor escorts; Antonio Narvaez, senior guard; David Smith, Brian Forbes, Jeff Chaboude and Kenny Griggs, soldiers; Robert Hebblethwaite Jr., French captain.

The DeMolay "Flower Talk" was given by Jimmy K. Stuart. The mothers of the new DeMolays and other family members as well as Mother's Club members also heard the "Flower Talk." Kevin Hazlip, District 16 master councilor, and Howard Klaus, District 16 deputy and other DeMolays from Staunton and Alton were guests of the chapter.

The 1982 State Conclave on the campus of Western Illinois University at Macomb, was discussed. It was announced that Terry Perrin and Jimmy K. Stuart are among finalists in the 1981-82 Illinois DeMolay Master salesman award. An award to recognize young men in Illinois DeMolay who have excelled in membership recruitment in the last 12 months. They will attend a private luncheon in the University Union Board Room at Western Illinois University on Thursday, Aug. 12. They also will be given a special plaque at the State Master Councilor's banquet on Saturday evening, Aug. 14, where the INITIATES. Douglas Broadway, left, became a member of the John Monroe DeMolay Chapter of Staunton, and Robert T. Ishum and Brett R. Carner, were enrolled in the James Stuart Chapter during ceremonies conducted at the Masonic Temple, 20th Street and Cleveland Boulevard, following the ritual refreshments were served in the dining room by members of the local Mothers Club.

Master Salesman of the Year will be announced. It was also stated that the chapters slow pitch softball team will be awarded the Illinois DeMolay third place softball trophy at the conclave. The meeting was adjourned to refreshments by the Mothers club.

Hare, hound balloon race at state fair

Pilots will sail up, up and away in their beautiful balloons in the Hare and Hound balloon race at the Illinois State Fair.

The race, sponsored by Eschloft Inc., an Edwardsville balloon promotion, training and sales organization, will start at 6 p.m. Aug. 15 at the grandstand.

One balloon designated as the hare, will be given a five or 10 minute head start and fly long enough for the competing balloons, the hounds, to launch and follow. Then the hare will maneuver and choose a landing spot. The race winner will be the hound that lands closest to the hare. Candy Esch, race official, said the balloons cannot take off before 6 p.m. because wind conditions are normally too brisk earlier in the day for safe flying. "We have to be down by sunset, but we want everybody to catch the hare before then," Esch said.

According to Pat Henry, state fair historian, the balloon race has provided some harrowing experiences at past fairs. "At the 1888 fair in Centralia, Samuel Wilson landed his balloon on the Ben Harvey farm near the fairgrounds. A crowd gathered and began taking turns climbing into the balloon's basket, which was tied to a fence," Henry said.

The balloon broke loose and flew off after 3-year-old Dave Harvey and 8-year-old Martha Ann Harvey climbed in. The children and balloon were found the next morning on a farm 10 miles west of the Harvey farm. The balloon had come

4 BATTERIES TAKEN

Thieves stole 12-volt batteries from four vehicles at Kirkpatrick Homes parking places on the same night last week. The owners are Clarence Bond, 708 Kirkpatrick, Gilbert Sifton, 1210 Kirkpatrick, Virginia Nolen, 507 Kirkpatrick, and Beverly Volner, 3902 Kirkpatrick.

"Moonlighters" beware: wages must be claimed

Now, in greater numbers than ever before, Americans are working at more than one job in order to meet their economic needs. It's called "moonlighting" and has become a common life style. It's the school teacher picking up extra money tutoring students during evenings or weekends; an off-duty policeman working security details; a newspaper reporter writing free lance articles for magazines; a secretary selling cosmetics door-to-door on weekends; a nurse doing private nursing during nonwork hours; or an accountant performing bookkeeping duties or preparing tax returns during spare time.

Speaking of income tax returns, all income from "moonlighting" must be reported on Federal tax returns. The Internal Revenue Code states that income derived from any source is taxable, unless excluded by law. Sometimes, the temptation to "forget" about this additional income and not report it becomes difficult to resist. However, the Internal Revenue Service frequently checks to be sure that all income is being reported.

Some firms that employ persons part time at a second job pay the employee in cash, often to illegally avoid the requirements of reporting the transaction to the IRS and withholding income and Social Security taxes. The employer, however, even ask you to say nothing about your wages and not report them as income to the IRS. There have been some cases in which the employer pays more than the going wage as an incentive for the employee to keep quiet. These are evasive techniques which are illegal.

What should be done if the employer insists on paying cash and indicates that no income or Social Security taxes have been withheld?

Records should be kept of the dates and times worked, the name of the employer and the amount paid. By doing this, taxpayers can quickly total gross income at the end of the year when the tax return is filed. However, it would also be smart, since the employer is required by law to issue a W-2, to contact the IRS by calling the number listed in the telephone directory.

Workers may be entitled to claim certain expenses incurred in earning "moonlighting" income. For instance, if "moonlighting" job is umpiring baseball games, the taxpayer might be able to deduct the cost and maintenance of uniform and equipment. Just be sure to keep a good record of your expenses in case the IRS requires verification.

Some may "moonlight" as self-employed persons, such as carpenters or painters. Those in this category, are subject to a self-employment tax if earnings from a main job are less than $22,400 and at least $400 net earnings is accumulated.

Most of those who decide they need additional income will search for ways in which to earn the extra cash. At the same time, an additional job carries the responsibility of declaring this "moonlighting" income on tax returns.

VEHICLE VANDALIZED
A vandal used a knife to threaten Kenneth Dunn, Boone Terre, Mo., at 4:30 a.m. Friday and to cut four tires and the three seats of a vehicle he had parked, earlier in the 2000 block of Grand Avenue. The vandal, who is to be questioned, also cut a sun visor, pulled styrofoam from the seats, bent a mirror and pulled wires from the engine.

Donates shelter to park

The Granite City Park District Board of Commissioners has expressed its appreciation of a $500 donation by the family and friends of Mrs. Florence Williams for the erection of a picnic shelter in her memory. The new shelter is in Sieveking Gardens in Wilson Park.

David Nolan, director of parks and recreation, said that the park district would greatly appreciate similar donations from individuals, organizations, service clubs, businesses or corporations.

"These donations to the district could be in the form of materials, equipment, services or cash for general use or specific projects or programs," Nolan said.

The park district is particularly encouraging donations for the flower garden area. Nolan cited the severity of the past winter and the great loss experienced in the rose and chrysanthemum beds.

The park staff is presently in a rebuilding process in the flower gardens and the district is inviting public involvement in this endeavor. Plants for these areas can either be purchased for the district or transplanted from home yards or gardens.

Any interested persons or groups can contact the park district office for further information on specific needs of the district.

Truck strikes cow on highway

A large truck and a stray cow collided Thursday on Illinois Highway Three at Niedringhaus Avenue, killing the cow.

When the truck driver reached the McKinley Bridge toll plaza a short time later, he reported having struck a large animal.

It was dark, and he had decided to drive on rather than investigate further at the scene. There was blood on the side of his vehicle.

Venice and Granite City police went to the scene and also notified the Granite City humane officer and the Illinois Department of Transportation. Granite City firemen responded with hoses to clean the intersection.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a full length white Chantilly lace and organza gown with Queen Anne neckline and lace bodice, trimmed with pearls and sequins. Driving tests is club topic

Mrs. Augusta Lampe, president of the Anchorage Senior Citizen Club, read a letter from Jim Edgar, Illinois Secretary of State, she received in response to her letter objecting to senior citizens over age 60 taking tests for driving licenses, at the club meeting last week.

Mrs. Lampe said she felt that these people over 60 were being discriminated against by having to take both the written and driving tests, when that particular age bracket has less traffic accidents than younger people.

Edgars responded with the statement that the driving law has not been changed in 10 years and he has ordered his staff to study the issue and also the Motor Vehicle commissioners to verify a change in the law is needed.

The meeting, held in Anchorage Recreation Hall, was opened with members reciting the Lord's Prayer and pledge of allegiance. Reports were given by Johanna Gerald, secretary, and Vivian Mitchell, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary Ahlvers, vice-president and sunshine chairman, reported on cards sent to members.

Guests attending were Dawn MacMillan, granddaughter of Mrs. Ida Oram who celebrated her 94th birthday last week, and Minnie Boyer guest of Sarah Olgeby, and Lynn Missimer daughter of Mrs. Helen DeBantz.

Those reported to be ill were Mrs. Mary Quilligan who is residing with her son in Cincinnati, Ohio, Blanche Jones, Nell Montgomery and hospitalized members, Carmen Allen a patient at Belleville Memorial Hospital and Nola Heinley at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The next potluck dinner will be served at noon on Aug. 15, the president noted. After the meeting the group sang Happy Birthday to five members followed by cake, coffee and tea served to 46 members.

Games were played during the social hour and prizes awarded to Edna Straub, Catherine Colligan, Lena Hansen, Edna Ishum, Josephine Wilkens, Rozze Zotti, Marie Tessary, Marguerite Collier, Johanna Gerald and Lula Kowalski.

Consentino investments earn money

State Treasurer Jerry Consentino announced last week that his investments of state funds during Fiscal Year 1982 earned the State of Illinois a record sum of $224,750,444.

"I must admit I did not think it would be possible to surpass the previous record earnings level of $222,880,810 which we recorded for Fiscal Year 1981," Consentino said. Consentino pointed out that interest rates in state investments varied between 12.4 and 14.6 percent for the 12 months. They averaged out to a new high level of 13.44 percent for the entire year.

"What we have demonstrated this year once more is that it is possible to pursue programs such as our incentive programs — for housing, low interest loans for farmers and economic development — and still produce record earnings," Consentino said.

The Fiscal 1982 earnings bring to $744 million the total earned on state investments since Consentino took office in January, 1979. "Actually, it appears we passed the $750 million mark on earnings about July 10, in the new Fiscal Year 1983," the Treasurer said. "This earnings record for 42 months tops the accumulated earnings of the eight years prior to my administration when we had two other state treasurers."

Besides the statewide programs on housing and farm production loans, which began in 1960, the economic development projects involving state support from Treasurer Consentino are the $18.5 million investment in Chrysler Corp.'s plant at Belvidere, plus programs at Greenville and Peoria.

Art display, ethnic festivals among state fair highlights

The work of 65 artists, including several from Illinois, is presently on display at the Illinois State Fair in the Professional Art
Exhibition in the Herbert
George Professional Art Gallery wing of the Exposition building. The amateur art exhibit also is on display in the west mezzanine of the Exposition building.

Both displays will continue throughout the fair which runs until Aug. 15.

This is the 36th year of the professional exhibit, which is one of the largest open, multi-media competitive exhibits in the state. Works in oil, watercolor, drawing, etching, sculpture and photography and sculpture are included. Illinois artists
Leo Grucza, Bertrand
Shelton and Shaggy and Mike Dunbar have works on display.

Entries will be judged with the $1,500 Governor's Purchase Award, donated by private Illinois patrons, going to the outstanding entry. The winning entry becomes a part of the permanent collection of the Illinois State Museum. The public can participate in the judging by voting in the Popular Prize awards for both the amateur and professional categories.

Another feature at the fair is the Ethnic Heritage Festivals, which is in its second year and runs through Aug. 15.

Ethnic foods, imported beers and cultural exhibitions and over 2,500
heritage entertainers representing 35 countries highlight the festival.

At the bandstand in Heritage Square, more than 100 ethnic folk-and-song dance performers in authentic regional costumes will provide free daily entertainment from 1 to 11 p.m.

except on Aug. 11 and 12 when the performances will begin at 3 p.m. The Chicago Police Clowns and the Kosciuszko Circus Troupe
also will perform in the area.

The International Bazaar also is located in the ethnic area under one big tent.
Several countries will take turns showing exhibits of their cultural heritage.
Artifacts and handicrafts will be for sale.

Women in management class is scheduled

A course for women who are seeking positions in business management will be offered at Belleville Area
College this fall.

The class, Problems in Business — Women Aspiring to Management, will teach women to function effectively in the corporate atmosphere, according to instructor Karen Brown.

"I'm a strong believer that women can have a lot of education in business, but many women are not prepared for the demands and stress business places on them," she said.

While aimed at women,
Brown said the information can be valuable to men as well. It can be beneficial to men who don't know how to relate to women in management positions.

During the course, Brown
covers time management, stress management, communicating, assertiveness training, negotiating skills, harassment on the job,
travel and career planning.

"Problems in Business —
Women Aspiring to Management" will meet from 7 to 9:45 Thursdays for 16 weeks beginning Sept. 7 at the BAC main campus, 2500
Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Registration is from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday at the Registrar's Office, room
2306, at the main campus.

Registration ends Wednesday, Aug. 25.

The Madison County
Community Development
Office will hold a Public

A Japanese-American named George

By NANCY ANDERSON

HOLLYWOOD — During World War II, George Takei's mother, born in Sacramento, Calif., renounced her American citizenship, while his uncle volunteered to fight with the famous 442nd, a military unit noted for its heroism.

And Takei considers both these actions "very American."

The actor of Japanese-American extraction played Sulu, helmsman of Starship Enterprise, in the "Star Trek" television series and the first "Star Trek" movie and continues this role in the new "Star Trek: The Wrath of Khan," a Paramount release.

He realizes that he was originally cast as a "token" player needed to create a racially integrated Enterprise crew, but he's never resented this.

"Gene Roddenberry (creator of 'Star Trek') was making the important point that we all are interdependent," Takei says.

He cites his first name, George, as outgrowth of international and interracial accord.

"My great-great-grandfather would never have dreamt that he'd have a great-great-grandson named for an English king."

"But my father was such a complete anglophile that I'm lucky he didn't name me Neville."

"He was torn between naming me for a prime minister and a king, and I'm glad he went with royalty."

Though Takei's mother was born in California and was, legally, as American as George Washington, she was "relocated" with other Japanese Americans during World War II.

"They said we were relocated, but we were incarcerated," Takei says.

"She had to take her babies behind barbed wire where guns were pointed at us, and this offended her so that she did something quite extraordinary. She renounced her American citizenship."

"My father was very opposed to her action."

"Nevertheless, she took her stand, so they transferred her to what was called a 'hard core' camp."

"Though he didn't have to go, my father went, too, because he didn't want to break up the family. Incidentally, her citizenship was later restored."

"By contrast, her brother volunteered for the 442nd."

The Niseis who volunteered for the American Army served with great distinction in Europe to the amazement of the Germans who could scarcely believe Asian-Americans were fighting for the United States, their country, instead of on the side of the Axis.

"I consider the response of both my mother and her brother very American," Takei says proudly.

Proud of his heritage, Takei is writing a three-generational novel in the Edna Ferber manner.

"I consider the coming of the immigrants to this country a heroic thing," he says, "as much an epic adventure as flight through the galaxies would be."

"My grandfather had to put up with cultural and racial hostility."

"He took a wasteland in the Sacramento Valley and turned it into a productive strawberry farm, but he couldn't buy the land, because he was Japanese."

"So my grandfather did a clever thing. He had a son born in California, and when the baby was only 3 three months old, my grandfather bought the land in his name."

"Technically, my grandfather then worked for his baby son."

Doing a very American thing himself, Takei has ventured into politics. His parents taught him the importance of participating in public affairs, so he ran for the Los Angeles City Council and placed second in the race. Currently he serves on the Board of Directors of the Southern California Rapid Transit Board and is vice president of the American Public Transit Assn.

He's been a delegate and alternate to Democratic conventions and was invited to President Carter's inauguration.

Since a former actor is now president, Takei is sometimes asked whether he'd like to be the second from the calling to hold that office.

"I've found that in politics it's very difficult to follow a planned scenario," he says.

Brent Ragon saved a life with Red Cross CPR. Could you?

Fifteen-year-old Brent Ragon had no idea how soon he'd be using CPR to save someone's life when he completed his Red Cross training at a Youth Safety Seminar. But, while Brent was riding the train home from that seminar, a man collapsed two rows behind him.

"He wasn't breathing, and I couldn't find a pulse," Brent recalls. "I wasn't scared. I didn't have time to be scared. I knew what to do and I did it."

If you were in Brent's place, would you know what to do?

We'll teach you. Join us.

Together, we can change things.

Crenna cranks up for 6th whirl

By DON FREEMAN

This is Richard Crenna, an actor who has been around the horn, and he is musing as follows: "Once I owned a little self-service laundry and I'd go in every so often to collect the quarters. And there I used to see people draw up a chair and sit there and watch the laundry!"

Crenna paused and then he nodded slowly, warily. "So," he said, "when I'm on a hit show, it worries me — these people staring at their swirling laundry may be the same people who are watching me."

The foregoing is typically Crenna — wry, bemused, perceptive. And optimistic — at least in small measure, as befits any actor who is venturing into his sixth series on television. Crenna goes back to radio where, at one point in his teens, he had continuing parts in eight radio series, including "A Date With Judy," "The Great Gildersleeve," "Burns and Allen," "Gunsmoke," "I Love a Mystery" and "The Hardy Family."

After nine years of radio acting, Crenna went into "Our Miss Brooks" on television as the affable Walter Denton. And then, after three years, he was Luke on "The Real McCoys" for six years. He put in a year on "Slattery's People," a political series that was, as they say, ahead of its time. And there was another year on "All's Fair," in which he played a conservative Washington political columnist and Bernadette Peters was the liberal photographer. They were an argumentative couple in a yarn that had bite but didn't quite jell. Crenna's most recent series was the syndicated "Look at Us."

And now there is "For Better or Worse," which is an ABC series in which he plays a doctor and Patty Duke Astin is his wife, who studies law and becomes a prosecuting attorney.

"In an era of tasteless humor and not very funny humor," Crenna says, "we are hoping for a giant step in TV comedy. We were both, Patty and me, looking for something that was both intelligent and funny, the kind of show we would watch. Frankly, I'd rather go into the dumpster with this kind of a show than succeed in noisy junk from the Norman Lear school of talking loud to get a laugh."

"I'll play back some of the 'Our Miss Brooks' shows or the 'old' Real

Haid's looking ahead to 2000

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — CHARLES HAID wants to be around in the year 2000. So do many of us, but the actor who portrays "Renko" on NBC's "Hill Street Blues" has elected to take an active role in the issues that will determine if civilization as we know it is there to join him.

He's become a member of the California Bilateral Nuclear Freeze, which seeks to end the proliferation of nuclear weapons, and will campaign for Jerry Brown, currently governor of California, when Brown runs for the California Senate seat.

"I like living, and I like to see it through the eyes of my two girls," Haid said. "I want to see the 2000 and I'd like my children to have it."

"The nuclear arms race has reached the point of absurdity," he continued. "We're not talking about a few bombs. We're talking about bombs 10 times the size of those that landed on Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

"It's not even a political issue to me, it's humanity. If someone will listen to me because I'm an actor, because I have some visibility, then I'll speak out."

Haid says he considers Brown a friend, but he's quick to point out that his involvement in so-called politics is motivated by his sense of family. He's married and his two daughters are 10 and 6 years old.

"My priorities are my kids," he remarked. "We travel a lot. We recently took a pack trip to Colorado. Eight days of camping and hiking."

"I never have my girls photographed. I don't want them to have the stigma of being recognized as the children of someone in the public eye."

Although he lives on a tree-lined street of Los Angeles, there's an outdoors person beating within Haid. He'll ride his motorcycle "if I want to get someplace fast," but cautions, "I don't think motorcycles are safe in an urban environment. I'm not a bike enthusiast."

What he is is an actor who takes his career with a sense of realism. He admits he hopes "Hill Street Blues" leads to more work and he's proud of the series — he earned an Emmy nomination last year for his performance.

"The day-to-day life of an actor is not particularly fascinating," he insists. "I just go to work in the mornings. If it's the parties, the night life you want, that's available. But night life is a great impossibility when you're doing a series. I have to be at work at 6 a.m."

DARREN MCGAVIN will also be back with the series grind this season. CBS has ordered episodes of his "Small and Frye" sitcom from the Walt Disney people, which will air as part of the Saturday anthology sometime this season.

CLEAVON LITTLE and MARTIN MULL made pilots that stand a chance of making the midseason list as well.

JIM STAAHL, who did a stint as a regular on "Mork and Mindy" will host a syndicated music show entitled "Laugh Trax," which will also combine comedy in its format.

The next film assignment for RICHARD DREYFUSS is "The Buddy System," which also stars SUSAN SARANDON and NANCY ALLEN as his girlfriend. It's billed as a "contemporary romantic comedy."

HERMIONE GINGOLD, who hasn't graced the TV screen in awhile, will make a guest appearance on an ABC Afterschool Special entitled "From Heaven with Love."

Long a favorite on the talk show circuit and in summer stock, deadpan SELMA DIAMOND has found a niche she likes as a semi-regular on "Too Close For Comfort." She'll be returning to the series next season. But don't ask her what night the series is on.

She loves to work, but explains, "Once I do 'em, it's over. I don't need to see them. It was the same way when I was writing. I never saved my scripts."
